

The First Song and The First Song (Bootleg Screw Version)
(Samurai Champloo Soundtrack, DJ VoiceCrack, E Luv)

Verse 1 - E Luv

You asked me to do a rap for the Spoken Word Cafe
So why not just do one for you on your special day
I'll attempt to paint the picture, but I can't draw
I write, so picture yourself smiling as you read along
Barely even know you, honestly had no idea what to do
Simply wrote a flow for you, can't really call it - just kept it true
To myself - that was your advice right? - be myself - well...
Loop + Pencil + Time = a tight rhyme, but it's too early to tell

Even took the bad words out, haven't done that in a while
But it's your birthday, so I figured I should go the extra mile
It forces me to write poetry more intricately cause you see
These words to me, be the painting - that just needs no framing
Not even gonna preface it how I be writin' these sentences
Bars and lyrics - obsessed with it doin' lines like addictions
Off the top - thought up these raps, slapped together against this track
Knew you were headed out of town - holler when you get back

Once recorded, August 5th - the world will observe it
I know you'll have fun with it, don't even have to worry about it
If you get a cake that's chocolate, I hope you eat a lot of it Wasn't that your favorite? Gave you an extra bar for sentiment
The thought that counts was of you, so I hope this was cool
One more bit of proof, that I'm a guy, and men have no clue
This needs no further explanation, there's nothing more to say
Just wanted an excuse to be able to wish you a Happy Birthday

Refrain - E Luv
And many more...

And many more...

And many more...

Happy Birthday
And many more...